Pritzker Park is a small restful green space in Chicago's vibrant State Street corridor. In 2008 the Chicago Park District acquired the 0.7-acre parcel from the city and began construction. The park was opened the following year. Features include a concession stand and seating, plaza, raised lawn and landscape with ornamental grasses and trees. The lawn is edged by a concrete knee-wall inscribed with quotations by famous authors including Richard Wright, Carl Sandburg, Walt Whitman and Sandra Cisneros.
